

Wednesday, February 6 of 2013

DAILY MESSAGE OF CHRIST JESUS, TRANSMITTED TO FRIAR ELÍAS

Be calm in My Heart because inside of My Soul you will find the relief and the true comfort that no one will be able to give you. As I come from the Source of Love, this love I pour over the souls and over their mistakes, but in this time, My dears, the one who weakens themselves by not trusting My Mercy must learn much.

My constancy is to sustain you in all of the moments of life, including in those moments in which you by yourselves as persons are not able to overcome. When I talk to you about the Source of wonders I talk about the moment of Grace that you can live with Me.

But today may your hearts not close themselves from the tests and indifferences that exist between souls. You must remember that while you are on Earth there will be much to forgive and to purify. To enter the Kingdom of Heavens you must consecrate yourselves as the little heart of a child where there is no sadness, lack of love, nor rivalries between consciences.

You will be able to see how the heart of a child is: pure, transparent, crystalline, simple, happy and free. This is what you sometimes lose in your hearts by the interference of your ideas, understandings and aspirations. For this the world is how it is, it is a world to redeem again and to free it from all of the indifferences that do not allow manifesting the Love of God between souls.

Try to have in these moments the heart of a child and perceive thus how your deepest feelings are, above all, those that are kept in the consciousness. I meet today with the desert that many of My children are crossing. I Am the spring that will quench you completely and that will give you Life so that through Me you may renovate yourselves.

Now you must learn to live My message so that My words may not become a theory but a Path of transformation for your hearts.

Under the Love of God, be humble, and brothers and sisters.

Thank you for guarding and living My words from the heart!

Christ Jesus.