Message of the Apparition of Saint Joseph

Dear children,

I am here to tell you that I have come to bring you peace and joy. I want to be with you every day.

I want to be with you in your joys and sorrows, in your prayers and in your work. I want to be with you always.

I want to be with you in your love and in your faith. I want to be with you in your hope and in your charity.

I want to be with you in your obedience and in your respect for your parents. I want to be with you in your love for your neighbor.

I want to be with you in your prayer and in your meditation. I want to be with you in your study and in your work.

I want to be with you in your love for the poor and the sick. I want to be with you in your love for the weak and the oppressed.

I want to be with you in your love for the Church and for the Pope. I want to be with you in your love for the Holy Spirit.

I want to be with you in your love for the Virgin Mary and for the Holy Family. I want to be with you in your love for the angels and the saints.

I want to be with you in your love for the Eucharist and for the Mass. I want to be with you in your love for the Sacraments.

I want to be with you in your love for the Holy Scriptures and for the Word of God.

I want to be with you in your love for the Holy Spirit and for the gifts of the Spirit. I want to be with you in your love for the fruits of the Spirit.

I want to be with you in your love for the Holy Church and for the Holy Father. I want to be with you in your love for the Holy Synod.

I want to be with you in your love for the Holy Trinity and for the Holy God. I want to be with you in your love for the Holy Father, the Holy Son, and the Holy Spirit.
