1 It is only through an act of incommensurable and infinite love that God still sends His Mercy to the world in order to give even the last opportunities to His children.

2 Today, contemplate within yourselves, the Reliquary of My Heart, not just to look at it, but also to enter into it, to discover what is held beyond this Humble Heart.

3 I am with you in each prayer, uniting My Maternal Heart with each word expressed as an offering of love.

4 It will be My powerful and invincible Grace, when I return to the world, that will liberate everyone from evil.

5 There is a great Light, there is a perfect Source that, like a magnet, calls you to return. Feel yourselves drawn to it and enter into it.

6 I am with you all the time, in the silence of the heart, through the gaze of Love, of a Mother Who contemplates the efforts of Her children.

7 Each act of prayer, of service and of love that is offered, I offer to the Father as a reparation and for another Grace for humanity.

8 Be sparks of the Breath of My Spirit, and may your voices and hearts never tire of crying out.

9 Feel, children, how God manifests Himself within and outside of you. Feel all of life within your essence, each creature, each being, each essence.

10 I am with you when you seek Me, when you accompany Me, when you simply say "yes" to the Lord.

11 When I come back to the world, I will return for those who have lost hope, who are subjected and do not manage to move forward.

12 The time is approaching, when all the illusion experienced by humanity will fall apart.

13 May peace sustain the inner worlds so that the moment of inner healing may be achieved within souls.

14 Never let the peace of the universe leave from within you; strengthen yourself in it, and you will always find guidance for the circumstances of life.

15 When I return to the world, I will come back for those who are lost. When I return to the world, I will come back for those who have suffered.

16 When you feel that matter is struggling against the spirit, and your human condition seems to have more strength than your essences, simply become silent.

17 Let peace work within you and do your work. Find upon this path the possibility to grow and to love.

18 When I come back to the world, I will return for those who have been forgotten.

19 Blessed are they who, in spite of all gifts received, always allow themselves to be shaped and corrected by the Hands of God.

20 The peace of the universe will lead you to wisdom, since wisdom is impregnated with the Love of God.

21 Peace builds newness and therefore everything gets renewed, everything gets restored, everything participates of a greater impulse.

22 Remember that I do not look for perfect beings, I look for imperfect beings so that, due to their unconditional love, they may serve God without exceptions or time.

23 Blessed are they who never cease to be apprentices, those who never miss the chance to observe, learn and grow.

24 Never tire of giving love and forgiveness, so that you may also receive love and forgiveness.

25 Now, I only ask that you to no longer look around you, and do not identify yourselves with suffering or chaos.

26 Blessed are those who teach by example, and from whose mouths comes forth wise words that love, and with love correct that which was off the path and the Purpose of God.

27 Imitate Jesus in that love capable of healing and of understanding beyond words and forms; so that the world as consciousness will also be healed and everything will be renewed.

28 All hearts need something internal or spiritual. Work tirelessly for the love of God, so that those hearts may receive what they need rather than what they want.

29 Open your hearts so that, through My supplication, your souls and the souls of your brothers and sisters may receive the fruits of redemption.

30 Blessed are those who seek humility, those who work so that others may grow, those who love the steps taken and the opportunities received by their brothers and sisters.

31 Sick hearts need healing. Wounded hearts need love. Hardened hearts need liberation.
