

Wednesday, July 15 of 2020

DAILY MESSAGE OF SAINT JOSEPH, TRANSMITTED IN THE MARIAN CENTER OF FIGUEIRA, MINAS GERAIS, BRAZIL, TO THE VISIONARY SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS

Pray for each other, just as you pray for the wounded planet, just as you pray about your deepest miseries, just as you cry out about your greatest difficulties.

Pray for each other, just as you pray for the nations in conflict, just as you pray for those who are hungry and cold, for those who have no hope and for those who are afraid.

Pray for each other, just as you pray for the Kingdoms of Nature, assaulted and unloved, mutilated and not understood by humankind.

In this way, children, with love, pity and mercy, you must pray for each other, because when you pray for a fellow being, you are praying for the planet; when you pray for a fellow being, you are praying for the Kingdoms of Nature and for the nations.

When a heart triumphs in God, all Creation triumphs with it; it learns, grows and triumphs with those who defeat their own selves.

For this reason, do not be indifferent to the suffering of those who you have by your side, but be attentive and, when you perceive a need, pray, cry out, plead for each other, so that your cry may be the voice of those who have no more strength to pray for themselves.

Be the voices for one another, be the fire for one another, draw from the Heavens the Graces and Mercies for one another and, in this way, you will achieve peace.

You have My blessing for this.

The Most Chaste Saint Joseph