Daily Message of Mary, Rose of Peace, transmitted in Monte Gargano, Foggia, Italy, to the visionary Friar Elías del Sagrado Corazón

If nature were more loved and respected, perhaps the world would not be purified nor would humanity. This would avoid Creation being constantly altered by the hand of humanity.

If nature were more loved and cared for by humanity, peace would reign and there would be more time for gladness, joy and jubilation.

If nature were more loved and not destroyed, there would be no cause or reason for there being ideas about war or for carrying them out, because it would not be necessary to suffer or endure.

If nature and the lower Kingdoms were loved and contemplated, perhaps it would not be necessary to experience a transition of the Earth and it would not make sense to begin a new humanity.

If this current humanity truly did not sacrifice the Kingdoms so much, if nature were more loved and the Kingdoms more protected, it would not be necessary to experience a definition, for everything would be in harmony and unity with created life.

If nature and the Kingdoms were truly loved, there would be no need to suffer, to learn or to die, because everything would be in balance with the universe.

If nature and the Kingdoms were considered as part of the Divine Consciousness, evil would not be in the world nor would it be active in the human mind, because any creature could be united with the Source of the Creator.

But humanity has already chosen the opposite and has decided to continue on the path of pain rather than the path of love. For this reason, the change in humanity will be as similar and as great as the unpayable debt that the race has generated with the Kingdoms of Nature. It will be in this way that universal movement will unleash the chain of spiritual evolution of the end times.

I thank you for lovingly regarding the Kingdoms of Creation!

Who blesses you always,

Your Mother Mary, Rose of Peace
